

In 1995, Anthony Miller and partner Robert Hauser imported San Francisco's Mission-style burrito to Colorado, opening the first Qdoba Mexican Grill in Denver.

They immediately won over customers and critics with the restaurant's Mexican flavors and fresh ingredients. All of their meals are handcrafted and made specifically for each customer.

Visiting Qdoba Mexican Grill is like walking into an artisanal kitchen, where fresh ingredients are prepared and assembled in delicious meals before your eyes.

Since its beginnings, Qdoba Mexican Grill has grown to include over 500 restaurants from coast to coast.

For more information on Qdoba Mexican Grill, click here.